

The next time a bee buzzes by your ear, you should...

- a. ~~Swat at it, aiming for the kill~~
- b. ~~Run away in panic~~
- c. Stop and admire one of nature's most vital creatures

Although bees have a bad rep, there is a lot more to them than their stinger. Bees are nature's chief pollinators, and since pollination is part of plant reproduction, bees are a necessary part of the life cycle of many plants.

learn more at sustainability.uark.edu